| Development of Innovative Pharmaceuticals That Address Patient Needs

As a research and development-oriented pharmaceutical company with a global presence, Sumitomo Pharma aims at continuous development of pharmaceuticals in areas with high unmet medical needs and development of healthcare solutions to respond to the future healthcare needs centered on areas where synergies with the pharmaceutical business can be expected. These activities are our business itself and the wellspring of value creation and given the highest priority among Material Issues that the Company promotes.

We are striving to enhance the innovation base with new approaches to drug discovery and deliver the highest performance of clinical development. We will contribute to not only treating patients but also improving the quality of life (QOL) for patients and their families by continuously developing innovative pharmaceuticals and healthcare solutions that address unmet medical needs.
